Bid for Time Lapse Camera at Sparta
Director of Communications and Community Engagement Nicholas Holladay explained his vision for the many future promotional and presentational uses and overall cost-benefit utility of contracting with a professional, permanently mounted time lapse camera service rather than assigning staff to manually take digital pictures periodically and then trying to piece together such a visual record one picture at a time.

After extensive discussion of the pros and cons, and with the stipulation that Director Holladay will clarify with the chosen company that CCL is tax exempt; negotiate the most advantageous contract start time based on actual construction happenings and equipment shipping and set up timelines; and confirm that the Library would not be charged unnecessary overage costs for the cellular data transmissions, Loretta Hermann moved that the bid from iBEAM in any revised amount not to exceed $5,000 be approved. Janis Hagen seconded. All Trustees present were in favor. The motion passed. Roll Call: Trustee Hagen: Aye; Trustee Hermann: Aye; Trustee Mitchell: Aye; Trustee Myers: Aye.

Other New Business
Update from Project Architect, Devon Gengler, SAPP Design Architects
Project Architect Gengler explained that completion dates for the Library’s construction projects will be adjusted periodically throughout the process, and that current substantial completion dates have been extended for Clever to November 24, 2020, and for Sparta to January 19, 2021, due to the unanticipated soil removal issues.

She also reported that unusually heavy and frequent rain in recent weeks has resulted in 13 weather days in April and 17 in May, or a total of 30 so far. The contract only has three days built in for every 30 calendar days (or 23 total days for Clever and 29 for Sparta), so she warned to expect another contract completion revision at some future time to account for these unanticipated weather delays.

Maurine Myers moved to adjourn. Loretta Hermann seconded. All Trustees present were in favor. The motion passed. Roll Call: Trustee Hagen: Aye; Trustee Hermann: Aye; Trustee Mitchell: Aye; Trustee Myers: Aye.

The meeting adjourned at 6:42 p.m.
