"The Queen's English - The young readers' IGBTQIA+ Dictionary of lingo and colloquial phrases" By Chloe O. Davis, print (book), Pages 26, 40-43, 101, 118, 154, 163-165, 203-205, 252-253, 276, 296-297, 311, 361, 362, 398, 400, 401, all contain material not appropriate for the ages in the childrens section.

If you are requesting the item or service to be removed from the library, can you suggest other materials or services to take its place?

A regular dictionary would be just fine! Please move this book to the adult section, so that parents who want this have it, but the rest of parents can feel they don't have to worry about kids stumbling onto this content. What other comments would you like to make? This type of content is risking emotional harm by exposing children to complex, mature and upsetting topics they're not ready to navigate. I urge the board to place this book in the adult section of the library. Please ensure our library is a place that is safe for children to explore.
